VALUABLE.—A Yankee has just inven-

or new milk, and a sprinkling of dried codfish. Keep awake till you find them

at work—then make a grab."

A FINE EAR FOR MUSIC.—Two Irish-

men, in crossing a field, came in contact

but turning to Pat, who seemed as much unraptured with his song as himself, re-

MISCELLANEOUS.

A RAILROAD INCIDENT.

There is nothing like an obliging disposition, I thought to myself, one day

when traveling in a railroad car from Boston to Worcester, seeing a gentleman putting himself to considerable trouble

to land another gentleman, who had fallen asleep, at his destination.

"Passengers for Needham!" cried the conductor, "the car stops but one minute

for you."

"Hello," exclaimed a young man in speculation, at the same time seizing an old gentleman by the shoulders who was sleeping very soundly, "here's Captain

Holmes, fast asleep, and this is Needham,

where he has to come, get up Captain

Holmes, here you are."

The gentleman got up and began to rub his eyes, but the young man forced him along to the door of the car, and gently landed him to the door side.—

"Whizz, went the steam, and we began to fly again, and he said with a good deal of satisfaction to some one near him,

"Well, if it had not been for me, Capt.

Holmes would have missed his home,

finely. But then, he has his bundle."

The young man picked up a paper and threw it out of the window, and the old gentleman, who was sitting in a hand-carriage, which was so close to a "Well," he said again, "it had been for me, Captain Holmes would have missed his bundle as finely."

When we stopped at the next station,

a lady began to run up under the seat

where Captain Holmes had been sitting,

and exclaimed in great alarm, "I can't find my bundle!"

"Was it done up in a piece of brown paper?" I asked.

"Yes it was, to be sure," said the lady.

"Then," said I, that young man you drove, threw it out of the window at the last stopping place."

This led to a scene between the obliging young man and the old lady, which ended by the former taking the address of the latter, and promised the package in a few days, provided he should ever find it.

"Well," said the obliging young man,

"each we doing a good natured thing

again. What can I do for that old woman, if I cannot find her bundle?"

Whizz went the steam, ding, ding, ding,

went the bell, the dust flew, the sparks flew, and the cars flew, as they say, like lightning, until we stopped again at the next station; I forget the name of it now,

but it could be of no use if I could remember it. An old gentleman started up and began to poke under the seat where

Captain Holmes had sat:

"What are you looking for?" I inquired.

"Looking for," said the old gentleman,

"why, I'm looking for my bundle of clothes."

"Was it tied up in a yellow handkerchief?" I asked.

"Yes, and nothing else," said the old man.

"Good heavens!" exclaimed the obliging young man, "I threw it out of the cars at Needham; I thought it belonged to Captain Holmes."

"Captain Holmes!" exclaimed the old fellow with a look of despair, "who is Captain Holmes?" The bundle contained

all my clean clothes, that I was to wear

at my son's wedding to-morrow morning.

Good Lord! Good Lord! what can I do!"

Nothing could be done—but to give his address to the obliging young man as be-

A Court Scene in Arkansas.

Judge Q., who is a man possessed of the usual quantity of judicial dignity, and never suffers it to be run over without a word of explanation from the offender, was administering justice in the town of the despatch of the public business, with an unusual degree of quietude,

except the steady peals of the full toned

and eloquent voice of Col. —, the zealous State's Attorney, when all at once, out in the street, hard by the court house, a loud voice was heard, making a horrid use of the King's English, and threatening great abuse of the human form divine, in this wise:

"Jist hit me if you dare with that 'are sick, and I wish I may be chewed up if I don't knock the death groans out of your infernal ribs!"

This attracted the court's attention,

and caused the speaker to halt.

"Mr. Sheriff, bring that belligerent into court," said the judge.

The sheriff obeyed, and brought in by the sleeve a liberal specimen of nature's works in the shape of a man about six feet four inches in his brogans, not a bad

face, but indicative of an immoderate

passion for beef and 'sperts."

"Is that the man raising that disur-bance out doors?" asked the court.

"Yes, your honor, I call talking in the streets, raising a fuss," replied the offender.

The court commenced one of his moral lectures, for which he is so remarkably, strongly animadverting upon the great criminality of swearing, fighting,

&c., when the offender, with great carnestness spread over his countenance,

something like a mixture of a laugh and cry, interrupted the court and said:

"Stop, judge, and let me tell you the circumstance of it. I warn the disrespecter. He drew on me a stick full

two feet over, and made circumlocutory

motions about my head, and I just concealed myself on my dignity, and suspected myself on my rights—that's all!"

This speech broke the thread of the court's remarks, and for several minutes

with his under lip between his teeth, it turned over the leaves of his docket. At length he said, "Let the gentleman retire for this time." As the hero of our sketch passed out of the door, he was heard to say—"He jernany, I cornered

the court that time."

Half Married.

A short time since, a party of young ladies and gentlemen visited Spire Curtis, apparently for the purpose of unning

two dog hears in one. The prospective groom appeared to be a young man of sanguine temperament, whose ruddy countenance and glowing eyes denoted the near approach of the happy hour, when his fondest anticipations were to be realized.

He thrust a hand in each breeches pocket, placed the right foot firmly forward, and, pointing his hat jauntily on his head, gazed first at the Squire, then at his "heart's delight," as much as to say, "I've got her!"

The lady, sat, the picture of health,

with an expression of countenance that told the casual observer that "buter

wouldn't let" between her ruby lips.

There could be seen a suspicious little dimple, however, at each corner of her mouth, that came and went with every

leer of a pair of bright, but mischievous

looking eyes—sparkling with roguish

restlessness—that told her lover "he needn't count his chickens before they hold her! Go on with the service—drive

it through, and clinch it on tother side—

drive her now."

"No you don't. You've no right to complain. You want to get married, and you are married—but I'm not married. So pay the Squire and run home before your mammy knows you're out."

And away skipped the little jilt, convulsed

with laughter.

"Great Caesar, Squire, it's your fault. If you'd only put 'er through,

and had'n't stopped to mince matters, I'd have had 'er."

The groom left with rather a rueful countenance, and appeared to be lost in deep meditation, which was only disturbed by the merry peals of a bevy of girls,

who saluted him with boisterous laughter

and a short distance from the Squire's prominent among them too was Betsy Bradford. He is known to this day as the man who is half married.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

New York, Feb. 2.

The steamer Humboldt arrived at Halifax on Sunday morning.

She experienced terrific gales which damaged her rigging, and she was forced to put into Halifax for repairs.

She left Halifax on the 14th inst., and comes the same evening.

She brings 35 passengers, and a full cargo of valuable goods.

She leaves for New York this evening.

Parliament will be opened on the 30th of February, by the Queen in person.

The present cabinet will face all difficulties without further modification.

The Crystal Palace has been cleared of its contents.

Attention will be replaced by Normanby, as Ambassador to France. The latter has arrived in England.

Subscriptions are being made throughout England for the widows and orphans of those lost on the steamer Amazon.

The London News states in reference to the Promoters of the bill, that the British government will express to the cabinet at Washington, in frank and manly manner, their regret at what has occurred, and will testify, in marked manner, their disapprobation of the conduct of the British government there. There is no doubt therefore that the matter will be amicably arranged.

The President of France has issued a decree dissolving the National Guard throughout the government, but they are not reorganized when the government is dissolved.

Thirty-six firms engaged in engine building, have suspended operations in consequence of a strike of the operatives on 10,000 men were thrown out of employment.

The London Times says the cabinet will arrive this season.

It is expected that Napoleon will succeed himself Emperor. Such a step cannot be added to his despotic power.

The Queen has given £150 to the relief of the London poor, and £100 to the relief of the London poor.

Charles Crocker has offered a letter to the Mayor of New York, requesting contributions for the same object.

COMMON SCHOOLS.

We copy the following letter of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, from the Lexington Observer and Reporter:

OFFICE Supt. Pub. Instruction,
Lexington, Jan. 19, 1852.

Sir: Will you allow me to make public, through your columns, the following facts, all of which may interest many persons, and some of them, I would hope, the great majority of the people.

My Report for the school year ending on the 10th November, 1851, embraces 1,611 children at being provided with common school education, by means of 3,355 district schools, exclusive of the schools taught in those cities which report separately. For these I will draw a draft on the Auditor of Public Accounts on the 1st day of February, at the rate of 60 cents for each child reported.

Every county in the State, except the county of Grant, and all the children of the State, except at 12,446, out of 255,557 are reported in my tables for the year 1851. Out of these 12,446 children, a large proportion were returned to me too late to be included in those tables, as an act of the last session of the Legislature, I am authorized to draw an additional draft for all such, on the 1st day of March, up to which date, the Commissioners can report to me, all districts not already reported.

The Legislature has passed an act, entitled "Schools and Seminars," chapter 35, of the Revised Statutes, which entirely changes the school system of the State, in many of its practical details, and some of its fundamental principles. I will print this Act in the appendix to my Report now passing through the Press, with notes illustrating the most important changes. Each House of the General Assembly directed ten thousand copies of my Report to be printed, and five thousand additional copies will be printed for the use of the Board of Education. Of these under my control (five thousand copies) forty copies will be sent to the commissioners of each county, by the persons distributing the acts and permits, and will be left by them, with the clerks of the county courts; the remaining one thousand, I will distribute personally. Each Senator will have 250 copies, and each Representative one hundred copies, for distribution amongst their respective constituents.

It is of the last importance that they should be distributed as early and as completely as possible, inasmuch as the schools taught in 1852, must as I understand, conform to the new law, or fail to receive their proportion of the school money.

It will be seen from my report, that I objected to the most decided manner to most of the important changes proposed in the school system of the State; and I am happy to say, that the Legislature agreed with me in many particulars. In others, and some of them most vital, the views of the Commissioners appointed to revise the Statutes prevailed over mine, and it remains to be tested by experience, whether they, or I, best understood the true condition and lasting interests of the system.

One of these changes is of such immense importance, that I feel it my duty to call public attention to it, in the most decided manner. By the tenth section of the Act alluded to, a common school is defined to be absolutely free school, and no school can receive aid from the State, unless every free white child in the district, of proper age, is admitted, and has the privilege of attending.

It would be the duty of the Trustees and Commissioners to see that no other schools, except such as answer this description, shall be hereafter reported, nor will it be my duty to provide and enforce such methods of returning the Reports of Trustees and Commissioners, as will exclude all other schools.

I have told the Legislature, and I tell the country, that this provision involves the ruin of the school system, or the increase of the school revenue, from about one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars to about four hundred thousand dollars per annum. The State must provide, by additional taxation, for raising about two hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars a year more than at present, for the school fund, or it must report this section, or the system of public instruction, must be destroyed, over at least one-half of the State, and that the heavy tax-payers, and to the extent the law is now made, and require an increase of at least ten cents for the one hundred dollars additional taxes. In the meantime, two years are to elapse before anything can be done, except endure this change, which, it seems to me, is nothing but a bitter hostility to the cause of public education, or a profound ignorance of the actual position of that great interest, can sufficiently explain.

Having been confined to my room by severe sickness, for more than two months, and I can promise to, to hurry my Report through the press as fast as the public printer can print it, and then, if my health is restored, to discuss this great question throughout the Commonwealth, or if I find myself unable to discharge in a proper manner, this great duty, resign my office, and let the rest show, whether I, or those who have done so much to defeat all my efforts, have most efficiently served the State.

TECHNICAL SPOKEN.—The Louisville Journal has the following remarks:

"The Union and other Democratic papers that now applaud Mr. Clay in such language as this seem to think that they are 'doing him justice.' Yes, they think that a few kind words, spoken of him upon his death-bed, do him ample justice for all the evil and monstrous calumnies and wrongs that they and their party have been heaping upon him for the last quarter of a century. They fancy that a few sentences of applause are ample atonement for the horrible accusations, daily made against him by their eyes and hundreds of thousands of their followers throughout the lifetime of a generation, of having sold his country for office.

The eulogies now bestowed on Mr. Clay by the Democratic presses can never repay the fearful wrongs which have been done him, yet they may serve, as an instructive lesson to the country. The man who has been the object of ten times as much Democratic denunciation as any other individual in the republic is now acknowledged by them and proclaimed by them to be one of the purest and greatest patriots that the world has produced. Let this fact be remembered and deeply pondered as often as the Democratic organs assail with their calumnies the distinguished patriot now at the head of the Government. Surely the time will come when the praise of honest intention, of firm patriotic purpose, and of enlightened statesmanship will be recorded in President Fillmore by even the most vindictive and relentless of those, who to promote their own partisan views, are now loading him with the vilest obloquies.

MILLARD FILLMORE.

The following very excellent article we copy from the Louisville Journal.—It expresses our sentiments fully in regard to President Fillmore, and we cheerfully join with the Journal in hoping that the Whig State Convention of Kentucky will nominate him for the succession.

He is the choice of the Whigs of the State, almost without exception, and they should not be slow to express their appreciation of his patriotism, integrity and statesmanship.

MR. FILLMORE—THE PRESIDENCY.—In this world no man has a poor chance. Whether it is part of an electioneering scheme, or not, we shall not pretend to say, but we do undertake to assert that there is no truth in the rumor so industriously propagated from Washington through the press of the country, to the effect that, in a few days, Mr. Fillmore will publicly decline to permit the use of his name in connection with the next Presidency. We repeat, there is no truth in the rumor, and we hope the press of the country will put the word along, so that they who have originated it, from whatever motive, may be felled in their attempt to injure the prospects of the distinguished chief of this Administration.

We think we understand this movement. We know of no man whose present political position so well accords with the views and wishes of the great body of the conservative and patriotic people of this country as does that of the very man whom this Washington letter-writer would now unceremoniously thrust into retirement.

Mr. Fillmore is not the man to act so incautiously, so indiscreetly, so foolishly, as, in the present state of the world, to place himself voluntarily, beyond the reach of his countrymen. He has administered the Government acceptably to fair men and honest men of all parties. His conduct has been mainly, straightforward, and patriotic. His Administration commenced under circumstances which appalled the public sense, but his example of firmness, prudence, and statesmanship so gave heart to patriotism that sectional disturbances were hushed, and the agitators have shrunk into dark and hidden places. Mr. Fillmore will not encourage his friends by any such declaration at this time as the letter-writer proposes, for he will not shrink from testing the public sense of the propriety of his administrative course should his friends so desire. He will not degrade his high office by electioneering through the press and letter-writers or by traveling agents or personal solicitation or the improper use of official patronage, but he will not now decline, and he will abide the sense of the country.

We are very confident, that, among the Whigs of Kentucky, there is no difference of opinion as to who should be the next Whig candidate for the Presidency. We believe they all prefer Mr. Fillmore, being perfectly satisfied with the whole course of his Administration, and knowing no reason why he should, if a candidate, lose the vote of a single Whig who wishes to see the Government administered upon correct principles.

We therefore hope that the Whigs of Kentucky will nominate Mr. Fillmore at their Frankfort State Convention in February, and we hereby call upon them to do so. We doubt not that such a nomination, made unanimously, would exert an important influence.

We copy the following from the Lexington Statesman. Much has been said and written against the managers of the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad, and every little accident that has happened upon it has been attributed, often in a very liberal spirit, to carelessness or wilful neglect on the part of the engineers, conductors, brakemen, or some one else concerned in the management of the train. We believe the road might be managed better, but do not think that justice has in all cases been given to those concerned.

LOUISVILLE AND FRANKFORT RAILROAD.—Having occasion to visit Louisville the other day, we passed over this road for the first time. So much has been said of its management, that we determined to see and judge for ourselves, and truth compels us to say, that our trip, both going and returning, was very agreeable. We found the conductor attentive, courteous and vigilant. The speed made by the cars far surpassed our expectation, and was, in every instance, fully up to time. Some pretty severe judgments have been pronounced upon the management of this road, but we are satisfied that due allowance has not been made for the difficulties with which the company had to contend. The demands of the public actually pressed the motive power into service before the company was ready to accommodate the public wants. The most extraordinary drought of the past season, cut off the supply of water upon which the company was forced to depend, for they had not yet completed their arrangements in this important particular; and before the heavens had yet been bountiful in showers, the exceeding cold weather set in, which greatly increased their embarrassment, and well might deprive them of the imperfect means for a supply of water, which had before been their main dependence. We learn that, in order to supply the locomotives, they have been compelled to transport water in horse-carts, at considerable distances, during a large part of the time since they commenced running. To add still more to their embarrassment, several locomotives, intended for this railroad, were lost on the lakes, in the attempt to transport them to Louisville. The mark had also to be put down on excavations and embankments but just completed, without giving them time to compact; and the consequence is, that the road is somewhat uneven, which gives a somewhat unsteady motion to the cars. All these obstacles and difficulties are being remedied, however, as fast as perseverance and industry can do their work; and when the spring opens, and the track is reset on ground made compact by time, and the company give its arrangements completed, we have no doubt that this road will vie in excellence, in all particulars, with any similar work in the country. It is but simple justice that due allowance should be made by the public, for all these unavoidable difficulties, and for the fact that the company was forced to commence the business of transportation before they were fully prepared. Let us be liberal, rather than unjust.

NEW RAILROAD PROJECTS IN KENTUCKY.

We are happy to believe that Kentucky has at last shaken off her apathy in regard to railroads. Unless we are greatly deceived in our indications, she is about to commence the work of railroad improvement with a spirit and determination that will in a great measure atone for the seeming indifference of the past.

At the recent session of the Legislature, among others, charters were granted for the construction of Railroads as follows:

1. From Covington to Louisville.
2. From Cincinnati (Covington) to Nashville.
3. From Danville to Knoxville.
4. From Paris to Mt. Sterling.
5. From Lexington to the Tennessee line, in the direction of Knoxville.
6. From Lexington to the Virginia line, point indefinite.
7. From the Covington road via Georgetown, to a point on the Frankfort road.

Covington has a direct interest in the completion of every one of these contemplated roads. The importance and necessity of the road to Louisville is acknowledged on all hands; and its speedy completion we regard as beyond doubt.

The route of the Nashville road is not designated. It is probable Danville will be a point. If so, the Covington and Lexington road will constitute a part of the line. The distance from Danville to Nashville is about 120 miles. With that gap filled up, we shall have a continuous railroad line, 570 miles long, stretching through the southwest, and reaching the Mississippi at Memphis. This will be the great south-western line.

From Lexington, or from Danville, to Knoxville, the line will run almost directly south. It is about 170 miles from Lexington to Knoxville. There is a road in course of construction from Knoxville to Chattanooga—distance 115 miles. From Chattanooga to Charleston, 150 miles, the rails are down;—the work is done. From Atlanta, on the Chattanooga road, there is a road completed to Savannah; and a road projected from Atlanta to Mobile. This will be the construction of 170 miles of road from Lexington to Knoxville, still make an unbroken railway line of eight hundred and thirty-two miles, and place Cincinnati and Covington in direct communication with Charleston, Savannah and Mobile. This will be the great Southern route.

Will these roads be made? Of that we have no doubt. Years ago the routes were indicated by the demands of trade and travel, and their importance universally conceded. But the vastness of the undertaking seemed to render all effort for the accomplishment of the work hopeless. What could be accomplished in whole, however, has been done in parts. Step by step the ground has been overcome, until there is now less than 200 miles of road to make on each of the great lines. Even if local means and influences shall be found insufficient to fill up these gaps, the general interest felt in the completion of these great lines will insure the accomplishment of the object. Hence, we conclude that at no distant day we shall be in railway communication with Charleston on the Atlantic ocean and Memphis on the Mississippi river.—Covington Jour.

The crew and 24 Americans were captured by the Indians. The Collector has despatched force to their rescue.

A shock of an earthquake was felt at San Francisco, on Dec. 27th.

Heavy rains interrupt communication with the mines. Since the rains the miners are taking $10 or $15 per day.

The author of the Jack Downing letters, since the death of the original, is said to be Jas. Brooks, one of the editors of the New York Express, and at present a member of Congress. He has proved himself an excellent imitator.

HEALTH OF MR. CLAY.—The following letter from Mr. Clay is addressed to Dr. H. Bostwick, of New York, and is the most authentic intelligence we have seen in regard to the state of his health:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, 1852.

MY DEAR SIR: I received your letter of the 12th inst., and although too weak myself in any comfort, I cannot forbear, through the pen of a friend, expressing to you my grateful acknowledgments for the friendly sentiments contained in your letter.

I consider my condition as highly critical. It is a cough of some eighteen months duration, proceeding from the lower bronchial vessels; it has reduced me in strength and flesh, diminished my appetite, and lessened my sleep; it must be arrested or it will terminate fatally. I think the cough is somewhat diminished, and I have certainly felt more comfortable within the last fortnight. I beg you to be assured again of my sincere thanks and profound gratitude.

With very high respect, I am your friend and obedient servant,

H. CLAY.

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE firm of Bloomers & Lucas will be dissolved on the first day of April next. It is therefore expedient to have the business closed at once, and they respectfully request all those indebted to the said firm to call and settle the without delay, in order to prevent any unnecessary trouble and expense, as they cannot and will not positively give any further indulgence.

BLOOMINGDALE & LUCAS.

Female Collegiate Institute.

THE winter session of this Institute having just closed, the Principal, whose health he believes is now perfectly restored, with the constant and unqualified attention of Mrs. McINTYRE, and such other Teachers as may be required, will resume the duties of the School, with renewed energy, on Monday, the 10th of February, 1852, when he hopes to meet all these Young Ladies who desire to benefit by their instructions. Mr. KARRAS will give lessons on the Piano, as heretofore.

Terms of Tuition—$12, 16 and 20 Dollars per session of twenty weeks, according to the scholarship of the pupil. No deduction, except in cases of continued illness. It is very desirable that all should be present on the first day of the session.

Public Sale.

Of Real and Personal Estate.

WILL, on Wednesday, the 10th day of March, 1852, sell to the highest bidder, at Public Sale,

MY DWELLING-HOUSE.

On the corner of First and Lexington streets. It is a comfortable Frame House, with 8 Rooms and 2 Passages. On the Lot is a good Mill of water, together with other convenient structures. Also,

My Foundry and Lot,

On the corner of First and Broadway streets. The Lot is 70 by 150 feet. The Building is of Frame, 40 by 20 feet, with a good Shop and Wheel-house, and a new Inclined Windmill attached. This is a first rate lot, in a Steam Mill, or any kind of Machinery, or for any description of Mechanical Shop. Also,

Carpenter's Shop and Lot,

On Broadway street. This Lot is a beautiful Building Lot, containing about one Acre of Ground, more or less. The Building is a first rate Two Story House—Log one, 40 by 26 feet. I will also sell a first rate Planing Machine and Circular Saw Apparatus, for Shop purposes.

All of which works well. Also, an excellent Horse Power for running the same. Together with Carpenter's Tools and Benches, Limber, Sash, Frames, &c.

At the same time, I will sell a good Furniture Car, a Two Horse Wagon, an excellent Buggy, Two good Horses, House and Kitchen Furniture, &c.

Should any person wish to purchase any of the above property privately, previous to the day of sale, can be accommodated by calling on me, at the Store of D. A. Russell.

TERMS.—The Real Estate will be sold on a credit of one, two and three years, with interest from date, with good security. The Personal Property on direct cash sale, for all sums of $10 and over, the purchaser giving bond with security; under that sum, cash in hand. The Planing Machine, &c. will be sold on a credit of one year, with interest.

Danville, Jan. 2, '52.

CHEAP—CHEAP!

I offer to make room for my Spring supply. I will sell my present STOCK OF GOODS, which is large and well assorted.

Very Low for Cash.

Or to punctual dealers on the usual time. Bargains will be given.

Jan. 2

L. DIMMITT.

REMOVAL.

Fresh Groceries.

I HAVE removed my Grocery to the Store room next door to R. A. Warr's Drug and Book Store, and have just received a fresh supply of

Family Groceries,

Reducing every thing in the line, such as Sugars, Coffee, Tea, Spices, Candles, &c., &c. My stock is complete, and I respectfully solicit my old customers to give me a call, as I shall continue to sell everything in my line at the lowest prices for cash, or to prompt paying customers.

HOTELS.

BATTERTON HOUSE,
DANVILLE, KY.
Having sometime since entirely completed this Hotel, and extensive alterations, and furnished it in the best and most approved style, with new and fashionable furniture, etc., the proprietor desires to inform the traveling public that he is now prepared to accommodate all who may call upon him. He deems it necessary to say anything in recommendation of his manner of keeping a public house, being satisfied to leave that to those who have or may hereafter patronize him.

There is attached to the House, a first-rate STABLE, which is provided with Hacks, Buggies and Riding Horses.
Of the best, for the accommodation of all who may wish to use them for pleasure or otherwise.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS WATER CURE.

THE undersigned takes pleasure in announcing to the public, and especially the afflicted, that he has procured the services of DR. JAMES B. WATKINS, As a Hydropathic Physician, Who has been engaged for twenty years in the Practice of Medicine, and for the last seven years examining the merits and Practising the Water Cure Treatment, with fine success. This establishment is too well known to require a minute description, having been a place of great resort for years. It is also deemed necessary to speak of the great variety of Mineral Water which abounds here, as it is known to be of the best in the world. The Springs are open for the accommodation of visitors throughout the year; are accessible by fine Turnpike Roads direct to Lexington, through Lancaster, and by Danville to Louisville. During the principal spring, persons coming to use the Water in the Hydropathic Treatment, it is expected will stop at the Crab Orchard Springs, where every attention will be given. In a word, all the natural requisites for such an establishment are here, and the abundance of Mineral Water in extent, and an abundance of every kind of good for the health-seeking invalid. A Patient will be required to furnish 2 or 3 good linen Shirts; 2 good towels; 2 strong sheets; half dozen towels; 3 yards of cloth for bandages; one pint syringe, and every attention necessary for the comfort and quick relief of the patient will be rendered by P. H. DAVENPORT, Proprietor. JAS. B. WHITE, Attending Physician. Dr. WHITE will attend to the Practice of Medicine in the adjacent neighborhood at the usual rates charged by respectable Physicians. Office at Crab Orchard Springs. Crab Orchard, Nov. 6, '51 41
